

Auckland-wide Network Discharge Consent 2021-2022 Annual Report

Final - November 2022

Watercare

KEY POINTS

This document is a summary of Watercare's performance against its Auckland-wide Network Discharge Consents. Watercare has five consents that, when combined, cover Auckland's wastewater network from Wellsford and Helensville in the north down to Waiuku and Beachlands in the south.

The local wastewater network improved slightly since last year, but there was an increase in overflows from our complex assets (pump stations). Overall, wet weather overflows increased, likely due to a move out of drought, which persisted in Auckland from November 2019 to October 2021.

- Of the 420 Type 1 EOPs, 75% of these did not overflow more than twice during the 2021-2022 reporting year. Brigitte WWPS in the Snells Beach/ Algies Bay catchment was the worst performing Type 1 EOP (consistent with previous years). However this EOP has since been decommissioned and replaced with the Kia Kaha Drive WWPS.
- Analysis of the Type 3 overflows has again identified fats and roots as the main known causes of blockages leading to uncontrolled overflows in the local network.
- Blockages caused by rubbish has decreased this past year.

Of the uncontrolled, Type 3, overflows, 9% resulted in a pollution incident, either to the environment or to private property. There was also an increase in Level 3 and 4 pollution events compared to the previous year, with 3.8% of all uncontrolled overflows Level 3 or above.

Consistent with previous years, the same five catchments had the highest frequency of dry and wet weather overflows, these being:

- Upper Tamaki River
- Western Isthmus
- Hobson Bay
- East Coast Bays
- Henderson Creek

Ongoing projects to improve Auckland's network include:

- Improvement and upgrade works in the Lower and Upper Tamaki River catchments
- The Central Interceptor programme in the Western Isthmus, which will reduce the annual volume of wet-weather overflows by up to 80%
- Western Isthmus Water Quality Improvement Programme covers a number of catchments and will enable growth and reduce wet weather overflows, resulting in improved watercourse and beach water quality.
- Ongoing Inflow and Infiltration investigations and remedial works continue in the Hobson Bay catchment
- A number of upgrade projects in East Coast Bays to reduce overflow volumes
- Takapu wastewater network upgrades to reduce overflows and provide for growth in the Henderson Creek catchment
- The Northern Interceptor programme which will service greenfield growth and avoid capacity-related dry weather overflows in a number of catchments including Henderson

1 INTRODUCTION

1.1 Background

Watercare Services Limited (Watercare) provides wastewater services across Auckland, from Wellsford in the north of the region to Waiuku in the south. The network that conveys wastewater to Watercare's wastewater treatment plants can overflow where blockages or surcharging occurs, and Watercare has resource consents for managing the associated discharges to the environment. These consents do not include Kawakawa Bay, for which the sewerage is transported within a vacuum system, and as such has a separate consent.

This Annual Performance Report (APR) satisfies condition 57 of Watercare's Auckland Wastewater Network Comprehensive Discharge Permits (Network Discharge Consent, or NDC):

- R/REG/2013/3743 and R/REG/2013/3755, which is the principal NDC consent
- COA-63609, which extends the NDC to cover the network in Waiwera
- REG-63613, which extends the NDC to cover the network in Parakai
- REG-63614, which extends the NDC to cover the network in Helensville
- R/REG/2013/3755, which is specific to the Western Isthmus and the Central Interceptor project

The condition is identical over all five consents and states:
"The Consent Holder shall provide an Annual Wastewater Network Performance Report to the Manager on 30 September of each year. This report shall provide the information specified in the Template for the Annual Network Performance Report (Attachment 9) and include the annually updated version of Attachment 2."

Auckland Council granted the NDC consent in June 2014, and this is the seventh report submitted for this condition. The report provides a summary of overflows that occurred between 1 July 2021 and 30 June 2022, as well as a brief overview of works in each geographical catchment area.

1.2 Scope

This report summarises the performance of Watercare's wastewater network, based on the recorded and reported overflows that occurred over the reporting period (1 July 2021 – 30 June 2022). The report also provides comparisons to previous years' data, updates on the progress of network improvement projects, and other measures to improve network performance.

Specifically, this report provides information on the following:

- Wastewater overflows from Watercare's wastewater network, both during times of dry weather and wet weather flows from both types of engineered overflow points:
  - Type 1 pump stations
  - Type 2 network relief points that are monitored
- Uncontrolled (Type 3) overflows which are typically reported through customer contact
- Watercare's Inflow and Infiltration Programme (I&I)
- The upgrade and improvement projects Watercare undertake to improve network performance
- Additions to the network in response to population growth and urban intensification
- Any updates or additions to the public information made available by Watercare

1.3 Data Limitations

Improvements have been made to Watercare's data collection processes which has enabled further data to be analysed for this year's report. In particular, an additional source of Type 2 overflow data has been included, which provides a more accurate representation of spills from engineered overflow points, but does prevent relevant comparisons with datasets from previous reporting periods.

Additionally, further improvements are being implemented around data collection of transmission network spills to ensure all overflow data is being captured across the entire Auckland region. In part because uncontrolled overflows from the transmission network are rare, their records do not yet match the level of detail collected for our local network.

1.4 Definition and Abbreviations

This report uses technical language and abbreviations for some terms. Watercare has made all efforts to define these terms in the text, and Table 1-1 lists key technical terms and all abbreviations in this document for ease of reading. See Appendix A for further definitions.

1.5 Watercare's Wastewater Network

The primary purpose of a wastewater network is to transport the untreated wastewater generated by residential, commercial, and industrial properties to a wastewater treatment plant (WWTP). These flows comprise dry weather flow and inflow and infiltration.

Dry weather flow (DWF) is a combination of domestic, commercial, and industrial loads. Dry weather dlow also includes groundwater infiltration (GWI); water entering the network from the groundwater table. When an overflow is in relatively dry weather (≤ 10 mm that day), Watercare classifies it as a dry weather overflow (DWO).

Rainfall Derived Inflow and Infiltration (RDII) is rainfall that enters the wastewater network. Sources of RDII include, but are not limited to, cracked pipes, unsealed manholes, and private stormwater pipes illegally connected to the wastewater system. When an overflow occurs in wet weather (> 10 mm), Watercare classifies it as a wet weather overflow (WWO).

To minimise the risk of wastewater spilling onto private homes and property, Watercare has designed its wastewater network to overflow at engineered overflow points (EOPs) during wet weather events. Such a design is a common approach taken by many international water utilities.

1.6 Sewerage Types

There are two key sewerage types within the Auckland region: combined networks, predominantly found in the older areas of metropolitan Auckland, and separated networks.

1.6.1 Combined networks

The combined networks collect wastewater and stormwater in a single pipe. Combined networks are designed to overflow during rainfall events when increased stormwater flows restrict capacity.

To ensure that these overflows occur in a controlled manner, rather than on private properties and buildings, the network has dedicated Type 2 Engineered Overflow Points (EOPs) at points on the network. These Type 2 EOPs discharge through a piped system or designated flow path to the local receiving environment.

The sewerage that is conveyed to Māngere, which Watercare defines as the Māngere Strategic Management Area (SMA), is the only area within the network that has combined networks. This SMA encompass parts of the Western Isthmus (Central Interceptor), Cox's Bay, CBD and Hobson Bay geographic catchments. All other SMAs are separated systems, including the Rosedale SMA that services most of the North Shore.

1.6.2 Separate networks

Separate networks should only receive dry weather flows, except where there are infiltration and inflow issues. The influence of wet weather flow results from:

- Inflow, where water enters the separated wastewater system through wrongful or illegally connected downpipes from roofs, overland flow, flooded manholes or low-lying gully traps on private property.
- Infiltration, which occurs when surface and groundwater above the pipe level enters the wastewater system through cracked or disjointed pipes. Infiltration affects both public and private wastewater pipes.

Separate wastewater systems have engineered overflow structures at pump stations (Type 1 EOPs) and within the network (Type 2 EOPs). These EOPs provide relief points where lack of capacity could otherwise result in uncontrolled overflows at a private property, and instead direct spills to locations that present lower risks to public health and the environment.

1.7 Watercare's Response to Overflows

Watercare manages its wastewater overflows in two ways:

- Immediate responses
- Investigation and remediation

Watercare has in place an agreed protocol with Auckland Council for responding to and reporting on wastewater overflows. The Wastewater Overflow Regional Response Manual, developed in conjunction with the Pollution Response and Licencing and Compliance Teams, was signed in 2014, and is currently being updated to align better with today's company structure and processes.

1.7.1 Immediate response

Overflows are categorised according to risks, as identified in Appendix A. In addition, Watercare uses ammoniacal nitrogen testing to indicate the presence of sewage contamination, using this tool along with visual and odour indicators. Ammonia testing occurs only when safe and when samplers have access to the receiving watercourse. Where possible, ammoniacal testing occurs at the point of entry, 5 m downstream and 100 m downstream.

Watercare records and reports overflow pollution events through "wastewater overflow incident assessment forms". The overflow manual requires Watercare to issue these forms to Auckland Council within ten working days for Level 3 and above incidents.

Where ammonia testing indicates concentrations >6 ppm, further sampling may be needed to confirm repairs have been completed. Additional sampling may also be undertaken by the Auckland Council Environmental Health Officer if required.

1.7.2 Investigation and remediation

Investigating dry weather overflows (DWOs) may identify a systemic network asset or mechanical issue. A repeat DWO is one that occurs twice or more within 12 months. Watercare tracks any repeat overflows that it has not resolved within the reporting year and prioritises investigations into issues with three or more spills over a rolling 24-month period.

Watercare investigates the cause of repeat overflows and initiates appropriate remedial actions as required. Corrective action may include additional sewer cleaning, removal of temporary obstructions, asset renewal, public education, or other site-specific activities.

Where the cause of the repeat overflows is attributable to inflow and infiltration, rather than a partial blockage or other mechanical issues, Watercare has three options:

- Network improvements and upgrades to eliminate the overflow
  - This is a short-term solution to prevent direct human contact by providing an alternative discharge location or adequate dilution
- Commence an Inflow and Infiltration investigation
  - Watercare then remedies any identified public issues
- Private issues go to Auckland Council to resolve
- Create an EOP to divert the overflow into an adjacent waterway or stormwater pipe (subject to agreement from the asset owner).

2 OVERVIEW OF THE NETWORK

2.1 Introduction

The Network Discharge Consents authorise discharges in 36 catchments across Auckland. This chapter provides an overview of each catchment. Figure 2-1 (at the end of this section) displays the consented area, while Appendix B has individual catchment maps.

Watercare reports metrics and tracks improvement projects and investigations at the catchment scale. By understanding the geography, population trends and developments occurring within each catchment, Watercare can ensure that the wastewater network provides appropriate services to all areas and communities within Auckland.

The Cox's Bay catchment covers approximately 25 km² in the western part of the central Auckland Isthmus. The catchment area is highly developed, being residential, with pockets of open space dotted throughout the catchment. The bulk of wastewater network in the Cox's Bay area uses a combined stormwater-sewer system, and the catchment has a correspondingly high number of network EOPs.

Improvement projects have been underway in this catchment during the reporting period, see Section 6.4 for details.

Catchment 21 – Central Auckland (CBD)

- 116.3 km wastewater pipes
- 4431 connections (38.1 connections per km pipe)
- 63 EOPs (0.54 EOPs per km pipe)

The Central Auckland (CBD) catchment is approximately 9 km², extending from Westhaven Marina in the west to Mechanics Bay in the east, and bordered by the Waitemata Harbour in the north. The catchment is characterised by commercial development (low and high-rise office blocks and retail shops), cafes and restaurants, industrial activities (light, automotive), hotels, low, medium, and high-density residential living, entertainment complexes, car parks, churches, and reserve areas. The harbour edge also incorporates port, ferry, and marina activities. Significant open spaces within the catchment include the Auckland Domain, Albert Park, and Victoria Park.

The wastewater network in the CBD is a mix of combined areas, areas for which separation has occurred, and areas developed with separate stormwater and sewerage. The catchment thus has a disproportionate number of EOPs for its size.

3 DRY WEATHER OVERFLOWS

3.1 Introduction

This section presents the analysis of dry weather overflows from the NDC catchments in 2021-2022. The details of Type 1, Type 2, and Type 3 overflows are presented separately for the monitoring year as well for longer-term trends.

Appendix D has details of all individual dry weather overflow events from the monitoring year.

3.2 Dry Weather Overflows 2021-2022

Table 3-1 summarises the dry weather overflows that occurred during the monitoring period 1 July 2021 to 30 June 2022.

When comparing the total Type 1 and 3 overflow frequencies with the previous reporting period (2020-2021), there is little change to the combined total, decreasing from 4,975 to 4,675 (9% lower). Most dry weather overflows are uncontrolled (Type 3), with the most frequent known cause of the blockage being fats, closely followed by roots.

Table 3-1Summary of causes of DWOs in 2021-2022

3.2.1 Type 1 overflows

Telemetry devices are used to monitor imminent and actual overflows at all Watercare pump stations and storage tanks (Type 1 EOPs). Following dry weather overflow alarms, staff visit the pump station to validate the overflow alarm, carry out any remedial work and perform any necessary clean-up of spills.

There were 57 reported Type 1 DWOs between 1 July 2021 and 30 June 2022, which is an increase from the previous monitoring year (18 overflows), but more in line with the previous 60 DWOs reported in 2019-2020.

Table 3-2 summarises the Type 1 DWOs by catchment. The catchments that had the most Type 1 DWOs were Pahurehure Inlet (12), Upper Tamaki River (12) and Beachlands-Maraetai (7).

3.2.2 Type 2 overflows

Type 2 overflows occur from our engineered overflow points, which are distributed around the wastewater network. Of the 383 Type 2 EOPs, 68 have telemetry devices installed to alert and record potential overflow events.

The majority of our Type 2 data comes from telemetered sites which send alerts of imminent and detected overflows, and as such is not always validated and causes also not determined. Moreover, data from work orders raised to inspect EOP overflows have also been included in this year's report for the first time (see Appendix D for detailed records), thus preventing comparisons with last year's dataset.

The Type 2 data collected for the 2021-2022 reporting period recorded a total of 557 dry weather overflows, with the worst performing catchments being Hobson Bay (265) and Central Auckland (127). Both of these catchments have high numbers of Type 2 EOPs (95 and 63) as well as having the third and second highest EOP per km ratio (see Table 3-3).

Table 3-3 Frequency and ratios of Type 2 EOPs per catchment

Catchment	Overflow events	Number of EOPs	EOP / km ratio	Overflow/ EOP ratio
Hobson Bay	265	95	0.22	2.79
Central Auckland (CBD)	127	63	0.54	2.02
Lower Tamaki River	28	24	0.08	1.17
Western Isthmus	89	120	0.2	0.74

Shoal Bay	5	35	0.12	0.14
Long Bay	1	7	0.1	0.14
Cox's Bay	8	61	0.63	0.13
Upper Harbour South	2	16	0.072	0.13
Whau River	2	19	0.05	0.11

The worst performing Type 2 EOPs for dry weather overflows were 14 Mahuru Street in Hobson Bay (55), 158 Basset Road in Hobson Bay (43), Branch 5 Herne Bay in Central Auckland (42), and 16 Hackett Street in Central Auckland (40).

During the 2021-2022 reporting period, more than half of the Type 2 dry weather overflows came from combined system EOPs (58%). As mentioned in previous reports, some of our combined Type 2 EOPs are known to surcharge during rainfall events that do not meet the wet weather event definition (at least 10mm rainfall within 24hrs). As such, it is unlikely that all 568 dry weather overflow events recorded here have been caused by blockages and breaks within the network.

3.2.3 Type 3 overflows

Type 3 overflows include all uncontrolled spills onto private and public property, land and waterways from the network. Overflows typically spill from gully traps and manholes but also from broken or faulty pipes. The Type 3 data presented in this Section, and in Section 4 (wet weather), are the reported and attended uncontrolled overflows from the public network managed by WSL. These data do not include call outs that were found to be private issues.

As mentioned in Section 1.3, improvements are being made to transmission data collection to enable better interpretation of those issues. For this report only local Type 3 data is presented and analysed in this section.

There were 4,618 Type 3 dry weather overflows in 2021-2022, which is a 7% decrease from the 4,957 recorded in 2020-2021. Of these 4,618 overflows, 22% of these were caused by fat, another 22% by roots. For 37% of the cases, the responding crew were unable to identify the cause.

Figure 3-1 shows the number of Type 3 overflows by catchment. The Upper Tamaki River had the most overflows (533), with the same top 5 catchments as last year (Upper Tamaki River, Western Isthmus, Hobson Bay, East Coast Bays, Henderson Creek), accounting for almost half of the recorded events (47%). However, when comparing the number of overflows to pipe length per catchment, the worst performing catchment is Devonport-Takapuna with a ratio of 1.21 overflows per 1 km, followed by Hobson Bay with a ratio of 0.95. Furthermore, Upper Tamaki River which has the highest absolute frequency, has a much lower ratio, with 0.64 overflows per 1 km (12th highest catchment).

Of the 4,618 dry weather overflows, 190 were DWO Level 3, and 9 overflows were DWO Level 4. Both these figures have increased from the previous reporting period (117 Level 3 and 0 Level 4) and is likely due to increased training and reporting of overflows by our field crews and internal staff. It is likely that these figures were historically under-reported.

3.3 Trend Analysis

3.3.1 Introduction

Type 1 Dry weather overflow trend analysis uses a rolling five-year average. Type 3 Dry weather overflow trend analysis uses annualised data and two techniques:

- Visual assessment
- Statistical analysis using simple linear models

Analyses used a p-value of <0.05 as the threshold for significance. Since the data are for annual totals, there is insufficient data to analyse using more complicated statistical techniques (e.g., Kendall tests). In addition, there are inadequate data to assess trends in Type 2 overflow data.

3.3.2 Type 1 trends

Table 3-4 presents the yearly overflow frequency and also a comparison of rolling five-year averages for all recorded dry weather Type 1 overflows between 2016-2021 and 2017-2022. Comparison of the rolling five-year averages provides overflow trends for each of the pump stations.

Of the 420 Type 1 EOPs, seven currently average more than 1 dry weather overflow a year with Brigitte (Snells Beach/ Algies Bay catchment) having the highest rate of 3.4 overflows per year on average. However, this pump station is now decommissioned and has been replaced by Kia Kaha WWPS, which has not overflowed since becoming operational.

When comparing the previous five-year average with the current five-year figures, there was an increase in overflows recorded at 31 pump stations. Of these, 24 recorded their first dry weather overflow in five years during this reporting period.

3.3.3 Type 3 trends

Analysis of the last five years (2017-2018 to 2021-2022) of Type 3 dry weather overflows has found a statistically significant increase ($p<0.05$) in total overflows in four catchments: Devonport-Takapuna, Henderson Creek, Upper Harbour South and Whangaparāoa. Figure 3-3 shows the total overflow frequencies and causes over the five-year period of these four catchments.

Additionally, trend analysis of overflow causes for all catchments have found statistically significant trends in three cause categories over the five-year period. A significant increase has been observed in the number of overflows caused by fat and by rags, whilst a significant decrease has been found in overflows caused by rubbish (see Figure 3-4).

4 WET WEATHER OVERFLOWS

4.1 Introduction

This section presents the analysis of wet weather overflows from the NDC catchments in 2021-2022. The details of Type 1, Type 2, and Type 3 overflows are presented separately for the monitoring year as well for longer-term trends.

Appendix D has details of all individual wet weather overflow events from the monitoring year.

4.2 Wet Weather Overflows 2021-2022

Table 4-1 summarises the wet weather overflows that occurred during the monitoring period 1 July 2021 to 30 June 2022. As previously mentioned in Sections 1.3 and 3.2, annual comparisons cannot be made of the Type 2 overflow dataset.

As similarly seen with the dry weather overflows, there has been an increase in recorded Type 1 wet weather overflows from the previous reporting period, and a decrease in Type 3 uncontrolled overflows. Additionally, many of the poorest performing catchments from the previous reporting period, have continued to perform poorly this year as well, namely Snells Beach/Algies Bay.

4.2.1 Type 1 overflows

During wet weather events, particularly when there is heavy rain, many of our pump stations overflow at the same time. As such, most of our wet weather data has been validated through assessment of rain gauge data or the flow and level data provided by our telemetry devices.

There has been 254 reported type 1 WWOs during the current monitoring year, which is more than double the 102 recorded in 2020-2021. This increase in wet weather overflows is likely the result of the increased wet weather events experienced in this reporting year, following the drought during the 2020-2021 reporting period.

Table 4-2 summarises the type 1 WWOs by catchment. The catchments that recorded the most wet weather overflows were Snells Beach/ Algies Bay (33), Shoal Bay (32), East Coast Bays (28) and Wellsford (22).

Additionally, there were a number of pump stations that recorded more than 2 WWOs for the year, with Brigitte WWPS again being the worst performing pump station (27), despite being decommissioned and replaced by Kia Kaha WWPS in November 2021. Other poorly performing pump stations include Seabreeze WWPS (14) and Palmer St WWPS (12).

4.2.2 Type 2 overflows

Type 2 engineered overflow points are designed to spill during increased flows as a result of heavy rainfalls. As mentioned previously, annual comparisons cannot be made with the Type 2 dataset due to improvements in data processing and reporting.

Table 4-3 summarises the frequency and ratios of Type 2 wet weather overflows per catchment for 2021-2022. There was a total of 328 WWOs, with an almost even split of combined and separate system overflows (50.6% and 49.4%). Overall, the catchment with the highest frequency of overflows were Hobson Bay (126), followed by Central Auckland (68), and Western Isthmus (50).

When comparing frequency of overflows with the number of EOPs per catchment, Hobson Bay remains the worst performing catchment (ratio of 1.33 overflows per EOP) followed by Warkworth (1.20), despite only recording 6 overflows within the reporting period. Similar to the dry weather overflows, the worst performing Type 2 EOP was 14 Mahuru Street in Hobson Bay (22), followed by 21 overflows at each of Branch 5 Herne Bay in Central Auckland, 113 Brighton Road in Hobson Bay and Branch 8 Mt Albert in Western Isthmus.

Table 4-3 Type 2 wet weather overflows for 2021-2022

Cox's Bay	2	61	0.63	0.03
Whau River	1	19	0.05	0.05

4.2.3 Type 3 overflows

There were 801 Type 3 wet weather overflows during the reporting period, which is a 35% increase from last year's 519 overflows. Of the 676 overflows with known causes, 29% of these were a result of blockages or breaks within the network during wet weather, rather than being caused directly by surcharging.

Figure 4-1 shows the number of Type 3 wet weather overflows by catchment, with the five worst performing catchments being the same as dry weather overflows. The highest frequency of overflows was reported in Western Isthmus (119), with numbers expected to drop significantly once Central Interceptor is operational. When comparing overflow frequencies with pipe length, the worst performing catchments still includes Western Isthmus (0.19 overflows per 1 km pipe), along with Cox's Bay with the same ratio (Figure 4-2).

Of the 801 overflows, 201 of these resulted in Level 3 pollution events. There were no Level 4 wet weather events recorded, consistent with the previous reporing period.

4.3 Trend Analysis

4.3.1 Introduction

Type 1 wet weather overflow trend analysis uses a rolling five-year average. Type 3 wet weather overflow trend analysis uses annualised data and two techniques:

- Visual assessment
- Statistical analysis using simple linear models

Analyses used a p-value of <0.05 as the threshold for significance. Since the data are for annual totals, there are insufficient data to analyse using more complicated statistical techniques (e.g., Kendall tests). As with dry weather overflow data, there are inadequate data to assess Type 2 wet weather overflow data trends.

4.3.2 Type 1 Trends

As per Section 3.3, Table 4-3 presents the yearly overflow frequency and also a comparison of rolling five-year averages for all recorded wet weather Type 1 overflows between 2016-2021 and 2017-2022. Comparison of the rolling five-year averages provides overflow trends for each of the pump stations. Of the 420 Type 1 EOPs, 94% of the pump stations met compliance and did not overflow more than an average of twice a year, with more than half (242) of Watercare's Type 1 EOPs not recording any wet weather overflows over the past six years.

There are 27 pump stations that discharge more frequently than the target rate (e.g. more than twice per year as per the Network Discharge Consent), with nine showing an increase in wet weather overflows. Although Brigitte WWPS was the worst performing pump station, the 5-year rolling average has decreased slightly to an average rate of 32.8 overflows per year, likely as a result of only being operational until November 2021. This pump station is now decommissioned and has been replaced by Kia Kaha WWPS, which has not overflowed since becoming operational.

No other Type 1 EOPs averaged more than seven wet weather overflows per year.

4.3.3 Type 3 Trends

Analysis of the last five years (2017-2018 to 2021-2022) of Type 3 wet weather overflows has found a statistically significant increase ($p<0.05$) in total overflows in only one catchment, Onehunga. Figure 4-3 details the total overflow frequencies and causes over the five-year period. The dominant causes have varied year-on-year.

Wet weather overflow causes from all catchments over the five-year period have also been analysed. Statistically significant decreases have been observed in two cause categories; rubbish and silts (see Figure 4-4).

5 INFLOW AND INFILTRATION

5.1 Introduction

This chapter describes the Inflow and Infiltration (I&I) programme for the reporting period. The focus of I&I is to identify sources of RDII and GWI to the network.

5.1.1 Programme summary

The Inflow and Infiltration Programme comprises three separate bodies of work:

- Watercare's Inflow and Infiltration investigations
- Joint Watercare and Auckland Council's Healthy Waters Safe Networks investigations
- Joint Watercare and Healthy Waters Western Isthmus Water Quality Programme (WIWQIP) separation investigations

5.1.2 Watercare's inflow and infiltration investigations

For separate sewer networks, Watercare Network Improvements Inflow and Infiltration Team investigates and identifies sources of stormwater to the sewerage network. Once identified, Watercare and Auckland Council, as appropriate, can remove these sources, which improves network performance and reduces the frequency of overflows to properties, waterways and beaches.

Reactive Inflow and Infiltration investigations target wet weather overflows and high wet weather flows that cause ongoing operational issues. Such investigations target obvious sources of direct inflow, such as illegal connections and low-lying gully traps as well as localised problems within public networks.

Planned Inflow and Infiltration investigations follow a more detailed catchment or sub-catchment investigation and analysis methodology. These works require the identification of all private defects (both above ground and private drains) and full investigation and rehabilitation of the public network and manholes within the target area. These investigations are typically triggered following system performance assessments of detailed wastewater modelling that identify areas of unacceptable Inflow and Infiltration.

Watercare also carries out desktop assessments using Supervisory Control and Data Acquisition (SCADA) data from telemetered pump stations and monitored engineered overflow points.The purpose of these assessments is to better understand inflow and infiltration of critical wastewater assets.This information also assists in prioritising areas for field investigation.

5.1.3 Safe Networks investigations

Where water quality issues are found to consistently pose a risk to public health in watercourses and at beaches, as indicated by Auckland Council's Safeswim, Healthy Waters Safe Networks team monitors and investigates to identify and track contaminants to their source.

When contaminant sources are confirmed to be derived from human, the Watercare and Auckland Council's Healthy Waters Safe Networks and Compliance teams collaborate and inspect private and public drainage networks to diagnose and fix these issues. Investigations are also classified as either reactive and planned, depending on the urgency and complexity of the need being addressed and scoped.

5.1.4 WIWQP separation investigations

For inflow and infiltration control (i.e., removal of stormwater runoff) in combined sewer networks (i.e., legal stormwater connections), Watercare is building upon their foundation Asset Management Programmes of work including the Central Interceptor to improve wastewater transmission capacity and alleviate the high frequency Combined Sewer Overflow discharges. This is now complemented with the Western Isthmus Water Quality Improvement Programme (WIWQIP).

The WIWQIP programme of improvement works was considered and approved as part of Auckland Council's 2018-2028 Long-term Plan process. Watercare and Auckland Council's Healthy Waters are currently investigating and developing WIWQIP catchment specific programmes of improvement work, which will include new stormwater and wastewater enhancements to enable separation and local catchment augmentation.

Such intervention will alleviate uncontrolled local catchment discharges and optimise the benefits of the wastewater transmission solutions to meet growth needs and achieve discharge consent targets. As part of the WIWQP programme of work, field separation investigations are conducted to map existing private drainage and develop separation solutions. In addition, private drainage and network issues are identified and remedied.

5.2 Remediation

All Inflow and Infiltration programme data is digitally collected and presented in GIS-based software, including identifying and remediation of issues. All urgent identified public network faults affecting service are fixed immediately, and other faults are included in Watercare's renewals programme for prioritisation and repair.

Auckland Council's Compliance team (on behalf of Watercare) issues 'Notices to Fix' defective private drainage as identified through the I&I programmes and follows-up with property owners. Generally, property owners fix their issues in the permitted time. Depending on the severity of the issue and impact, Auckland Council can issue fines for significant delayed repairs.

In some cases, problems that owners do not correct go on the property's Land Information Memorandum (LIM). Consequently, owners often address these ongoing drainage problems when intending to sell their house.

5.3 Completed and Planned Investigations

Table 5-2 Inflow & Infiltration investigation summary for 2021- 2022 details all inflow and infiltration investigations started or completed during the reporting year, including projects continuing into the next year.

6 NETWORK IMPROVEMENTS

6.1 Introduction

The summary tables in this section comprise of improvement works projects that are either completed, in progress, or planned, that come from Watercare's Improvement Works Programme. This programme tracks significant network improvement projects across Auckland, and so the projects summarised in Section 6.3, Section 6.4, and Section 6.5 include major works only.

Project dates listed in this Section depend on current work plans. All dates are subject to change.

6.1.1 Wastewater Network Strategy

Condition 13 of the Network Discharge Consents requires Watercare to prepare, review and update its Wastewater Network Strategy (WNS) every six years, and implement the Wastewater Network Improvement Works Programme as set out in the Wastewater Network Strategy. Conditions 15, 16, 17, 18, 20, 21 and 22 of the consents outline the requirements of this Strategy. It describes network improvement planning and prioritisation of network improvements for a period of six years. Watercare completed the first Wastewater Network Strategy in 2017, with the next update due in 2023.

Watercare continues to work on the 2023 update to the Strategy. Recent progress includes Watercare's internal working group engaging with mana whenua since early January 2022, and engaging with Environmental working groups (90% complete). Further tasks being undertaken by the WNS team are public engagement, website updates, library stands, public drop in sessions, and communicating with special interest groups and local boards. The Wastewater Network Strategy remains on track for completion in June 2023.

6.1.2 Informing catchment analyses and improvements

Condition 9 requires the existing network to achieve an average of no more than two wet weather overflow events per EOP per year. If this is not achieved, an alternative discharge frequency using Best Practicable Option methodology for that EOP must be determined.

System performance analysis is completed during modelling of both the transmission and local networks. This analysis provides a baseline and expected future performance of the network and EOPs. Watercare's modellers can then compare developments and changes to flows within a network to identify any changes to EOP performance.

The frequency and volume of EOPs and overall level of service within a catchment helps to determine the prioritisation of improvements, future projects, and catchment analysis. For each wastewater catchment, multiple criteria are assessed, including, but not limited to:

- EOP overflow volumes and frequencies
- Type 3 overflows (uncontrolled)
- Growth
- Level of service
- System Performance
- Operational issues

Watercare's planners and engineers rank these criteria to set a prioritisation programme for catchment studies, options analysis and current and future improvement works within the Asset Management Plan and subsequently the Wastewater Network Strategy.

In addition, the network performance is assessed against expected wet weather responses to identify where unexpected issues are occurring. Departures from expected performance feed into inflow and infiltration programmes.

6.2 Central Interceptor Programme

Projects that are specific to the Central Interceptor programme have not been included in this section, with the exception of the Western Isthmus and Central Interceptor interfaces, as there are a high number of these projects and the nature of this programme is quite complex and extensive. Information regarding site-specific Central Interceptor works can be found on the Watercare website (https://www.watercare.co.nz/Central-interceptor). The Central Interceptor Project has extended north to Tawariki Street, Grey Lynn and will provide additional wastewater capacity in Cox's Bay catchment. A total of 16 major construction sites are scheduled for works at various times between August 2019 and 2026. Watercare can advise that tunnelling Link Sewer C (Miranda Reserve, Avondale to the main tunnel) commenced in May 2021 with the main Tunnel Boring Machine commenced tunnelling in February 2022. The programme is expected to be completed in 2026.

6.3 Works Completed Between 1 July 2021 and 30 June 2022

7 NEW ASSETS

7.1 New EOPs in 2021-2022

Continued development and population growth in Auckland require Watercare to make additions to both our local and transmission wastewater networks. This allows Watercare to service areas of urban intensification and greenfield growth.

Table 7-1 details any complex assets that have been installed during this reporting period. In addition, Appendix C provides details of proposed EOPs planned for the coming years and also newly discovered and recently sealed EOPs.

8 PUBLIC INFORMATION

8.1 Publicly Available Information

Condition 65 of the NDC requires Watercare to make information about the NDC available to the general public. Specifically, Watercare needs to provide:

- General information on the wastewater network and material about undertaking works in the vicinity of wastewater pipes, to help prevent accidental damage that could result in wastewater discharges.
- Information about wastewater and stormwater drainage, and the need and reasons for ensuring that service connections on properties drain into the appropriate system, including advice for property owners on how this can be achieved.
- General information for private property owners who believe they may have cross connections about how they can test for this and rectify it.
- Information about the general function and operation of the wastewater network, including information about the nature of wet weather wastewater overflows and information directed at raising awareness about the potential effects on the receiving environment.
- Information about the location of Engineered Overflow Points that are known to discharge at high volume more than 12 times per year, and the risk of contact recreation at these locations following periods of heavy rain.

More generally, Watercare hosts a range of pages that include information about the wastewater on its website (www.watercare.co.nz).

The Safeswim website provides information on the relatively safety of swimming at Auckland's beaches (https://safeswim.org.nz). The Safeswim model uses real-time data from a range of models, including Watercare's wastewater water network models, with the ability for Watercare and Healthy Waters staff to make manual overrides as appropriate.

This report, which is available on request, contains information about specific Engineered Overflow Points. From 2021-2022 this report will also be available direct from Watercare's website.

8.2 Other Initiatives

8.2.1 Local Board presentations

Local Boards also receive information as part of presentations from Watercare about how it is responding to regional growth. These presentations focus on Watercare's infrastructure response as well as opportunities for households to assist. Commercial food businesses in Auckland receive information on the importance of preventing fats, oils, and greases from entering the wastewater network as a multi-language brochure and poster.

8.2.2 Ongoing education

Watercare has a book called "Sam and Flo go round the bend", available in English and te reo Māori (Figure 8-1). We continue to educate the public on the causes of overflows and the actions private property owners can take to reduce the frequency and volume of overflows. Our efforts include presentations at community events and distributing newsletters in specific communities to educate people about overflows. We also include information in more widely distributed publications, such as the Winter "Tapped In", which included information on the works we will be doing in the next 20 years to reduce overflows. Figure 8-2 and Figure 8-3 are examples from the Winter 2021 update.

Sam and Flo go round the bend

This school term, public kindergartens and schools in Auckland will receive free copies of our latest book – Sam and Flo Go Round the Bend – which tells the story of wastewater treatment in Auckland.

Sam joins a water droplet named Flo on an adventure to find out where the water goes when it disappears down the plughole. They travel through the network of pipes to the wastewater treatment plant and beyond.

Written by our education co-ordinator Sally Smith, this 28-page, A3-sized book is beautifully illustrated by Auckland artist Emma Scheltema.

Customers can purchase a copy of the book for $29.95 plus postage and packaging. Just email your order and details to communications@water.co.nz. Also available is our earlier book on water treatment in Auckland called Sam and Flo's Watery Adventure.

Sneak peak inside the book: Sam and Flo discover a fatberg on their journey through Auckland's wastewater network. Fatbergs form when people pour fat down their sinks and flush rubbish down their toilets.

TAPPED IN

Bringing you news, updates and information from Watercare

The final spark - the last section of a 31-kilometre pipe is put in place for the Hūnua 4 Watermain project.

Our plan for the next 20 years

Living in the 'World's Most Liveable City', we're the envy of millions of people around the world – and not just because of the freedom we're enjoying while we keep Covid-19 at bay. We have beautiful harbours, great beaches, spectacular native bush and a unique volcanic landscape that creates endless opportunities for exploring.

Still, Auckland is facing some hefty challenges – our population is steadily growing, much of our infrastructure is ageing and we have the increasing impacts of climate change.

We plan far into the future to make sure we can manage these challenges so that you continue to enjoy top-quality drinking water and can be confident your wastewater is safely treated and disposed of.

We will be spending about $18.5 billion over the next 20 years – by far our biggest investment programme to date – to build and maintain our region's water and wastewater infrastructure.

Catering for growth

Auckland is expected to grow by almost half a million people over the next 20 years, taking our population close to 2.2 million. During this time, we will invest $8.26 billion to ensure we are able to serve everyone living in our city and allow business and industry to thrive.

Our growth-related infrastructure is paid for with borrowings and the money we collect in Infrastructure Growth Charges so that our existing customers are not subsidising our future ones.

Ensuring service reliability

To make sure you continue to receive safe and reliable services, we need a water and wastewater network that can withstand disruptions and be resilient to changing conditions. We'll be spending $10.2 billion replacing and upgrading critical infrastructure to ensure our services are reliable and protect the environment in which we operate.

The impact of climate change

As your provider of water and wastewater services, it's our duty to consider the environment in every decision we make. We are already on the journey to reducing our carbon footprint, with our goal to be a 'net zero emission' company by 2050.

When we build new infrastructure, things like sea-level rises are factored in at the design stage. And with construction responsible for a huge chunk of the world's carbon emissions, we're exploring innovative ways to reduce our construction-related emissions. Upgrades at our facilities will also reduce emissions from our daily operations.

FAST FACTS

Over the next 20 years...

Auckland will grow by 29 per cent, adding another 476,000 people to our current population.

During this time, we plan to invest about $2.5m each day on water and wastewater infrastructure.

9 TARGETED MONITORING PROGRAMME

9.1 Introduction

Conditions 58-63 of the Consent require Watercare to develop a risk assessment framework for the effects of wastewater overflows and for Watercare to validate the framework. The purpose of the Targeted Monitoring Programme (TMP) is to validate this framework.

Watercare is developing the TMP in two stages. Stage one was a pilot study, and stage two builds upon this pilot study and commenced in 2021-2022.

9.2 Stage One Summary

The first stage of the TMP used event-based water quality sampling and semi-quantitative ecological data collection. Sampling focussed on three catchments with different environmental characteristics (a beach, a harbour and a stream) and occurred during storm events and within 48 hours after.

The results of this first stage were inconclusive. On occasion, the sampling reported elevated concentrations of wastewater indicators. However, the inability to consistently sample the first flush and the variability of storm intensities and duration meant few patterns emerged in the data. The results of ecological monitoring depended on the sampler and were similarly inconclusive.

9.3 Stage Two

Stage One highlighted the need for continuous monitoring. In the second stage of the TMP, Watercare has installed telemetered online probed and intends to de-couple the ecological component. This programe of works commenced in late 2021. The continuous water quality probes have been installed at three sites:

- The lower Mahurangi River, downstream of the Warkworth township
- Henderson Creek, downstream of the Whenuapai branch sipons
- Oakley Creek, downstream of an Engineered Overflow Point on the Orakei Main Sewer

These probes measure optical brighteners, nitrate and tryptophan, a proxy for faecal coliforms, in addition to physicochemical parameters. All sensors have been in place for a minimum of six months through a range of weather events. The sensors will be in place through to at least June 2023. After June 2023, Watercare intends to move one or more of these meters to other sites to provide coverage across the principal catchment types over the next three years, assuming it can find suitable locations.

In this summer of 2022-2023, Watercare will engage an independent ecologist to conduct an ecological assessment of each location. The collated data will allow Watercare to compare NIWA's initial risk assessment for each site to the site-specific information and thus provide a mechanism for validation. Where practicable, Watercare will repeat the monitoring in studied catchments that have significant improvements. Repeat monitoring is an opportunity to assess the direct ecological and human health benefits of Watercare's network improvement programe and provide an additional risk framework validation pathway.

Watercare will include formal data analysis in the 2022-2023 annual report.

10 CONCLUSIONS

10.1 Relative Performance

A comparison of Type 1 and 3 data can be made to draw conclusions of the general performance of the wastewater network. Analysis of Type 2 data was not possible because the data between years are not directly comparable.

The total number of Type 1 and Type 3 overflows in 2021-2022 increased slightly, going from 5,596 in 2020-2021 to 5,730 in 2021-2022 (see Table 10-1).

Over the last four years, the lowest overflow frequency was observed in 2019-2020 with a total of 4,135 Type 1 and 3 overflows. However, in most overflow categories presented below, there has been a steady increase over the four year period from 2018-2019, which reflect Watercare's improved data capturing processes as much as changes in the network. The recent increase in wet weather overflows is likely due to a move out of drought, which persisted in Auckland from November 2019 to October 2021.

Table 10-1 Comparison of Type 1 and Type 3 overflow frequencies for the past four reporting years

Overflows	Type	2018-2019	2019-2020	2020-2021	2021-2022
DWO	Type 1	28	61	18	57
	Type 3	3,635	3,487	4,957	4,618
	Type 3 DWO L3+	71	80	117	199
WWO	Type 1	178	194	102	254
	Type 3	617	393	519	801
	Type 3 WWO L3+	5	4	9	11
Overall	Total DWOS	3,663	3,548	4,975	4,675
	Total WWOs	795	587	621	1,055
	Total Type 3 L3+	76	84	126	210
	Total Overflows	4,458	4,135	5,596	5,730

As Watercare continues to improve overflow data collection and processing, it is likely that the recorded overflow frequencies will continue to increase, especially with the addition of detailed Type 3 transmission data from 2022-2023 onwards. However, by analysing our current data we have drawn conclusions as to where the poorest performing catchments are, as well as the main causes of blockages and overflows.

10.2 Trends and Causes

Analysis of Type 3 dry weather overflows identifies fats and roots as the leading known causes of blockages in our wastewater pipes. Consistent with previous years, the same five catchments have received the highest frequency of dry and wet weather overflows:

- Upper Tamaki River
- Western Isthmus
- East Coast Bays
- Henderson Creek
- Hobson Bay

10.2.1 Repeat overflows

Repeat overflows are determined using the recorded property address for uncontrolled overflows. Repeat analysis includes both dry and wet weather events.

In 2021-2022 there were 481 locations with repeat overlows. As seen with the total number of dry and wet weather overflows, the top five worst performing catchments for total repeat overflows remain the same (see Table 10-2). However, when comparing the number of repeat locations to wastewater pipe length per catchment, the worst performing catchments are Wellsford (0.14 repeat overflow locations per km) and Devonport-Takapuna (0.13). Further details of repeat overflows, including the causes and what measures were taken to prevent repeats, can be found in Appendix D.

In addition, the list of 54 known Type 3 overflows to private properties (as per Attachment 11 of the NDC) has been cross-referenced with the 2021-2022 repeat overflow database (Appendix D). There are four local network overflow sites on the known list that have experienced repeat overflows during this reporting period (Table 10-3).

10.3 Remedial Works and Future Improvements

The network improvement projects listed in Section 6 will help tackle these areas of high overlows. Ongoing projects include:

- Improvement and upgrade works in the Lower and Upper Tamaki River catchments
- Western Isthmus Water Quality Improvement Programme to reduce wet weather overflows, resulting in improved watercourse and beach water quality
- A number of upgrade projects in East Coast Bays to reduce overflow volumes
- The Northern Interceptor programme which will service greenfield growth and avoid capacity-related dry weather overflows

In addition to the Improvement Works Programme, the Inflow and Infiltration team continues to investigate areas of concern, identifying public and private issues contributing to both dry and wet weather overflow. One of their main focus areas continues to be the Hobson Bay catchment, which has a high number of EOPs due to its mix of combined and separated from historically combined sewer networks.

Future projects planned for Auckland's wastewater network includes:

- Continued local network upgrade and separation projects under the Western Isthmus Water Quality Improvement Programme
- Pukekohe trunk upgrades
- Local network improvements in Otara
- Celesmere diversion to Eastern Interceptor

Existing Network	The separated and combined wastewater network owned and operated by Watercare Services Limited (as the Auckland water organisation) at the time the Auckland Wastewater Network Comprehensive Discharge Permit commences. For avoidance of doubt, any additional or New Engineered Overflow Points become part of the Existing Network after the engineered overflow structure has been built.

Existing Urban Area	Any area within the metropolitan urban limits, and; Any area included within the urban zones (under an operative district plan) of a rural or coastal settlement; at the time the Auckland Wastewater Network Comprehensive Discharge Permit commences.

Normal Operation (of the Network)	Excludes events which are due to circumstances beyond the Consent Holder's control and which cannot be provided against, and are defined as follows: (a) Chokes. Network Failure, a force majeure (including vandalism and for terrorism): (b) Heavy rain which occurs at the same time maintenance or construction or re-construction of the Network and is beyond the diversion capacity.
